

The Fairfield County Chapter of the Special Library Association Presents:

Blogs & RSS Feeds: What.. Why and How?

Join us for an exciting evening with Steven M. Cohen as we learn about web logs (Blogs) and Real Simple Syndication (RSS). Mr. Cohen will discuss how to get started in the world of RSS Feeds, including a review of the major players in the field, resources to help locate feeds, and what the future will hold for RSS, as well as providing practical advice on how to utilize feeds.

Steven M. Cohen is Assistant Librarian for Rivkin Radler LLP in Uniondale, NY. He is the creator of Library Stuff, a library weblog dedicated to resources for keeping current and professional development, which has been active since August of 2000. He has been the Internet Spotlight columnist for Public Libraries Magazine since March of 2001, and contributing editor to Resourceshelf.com (a weblog edited by Gary Price) for the past 6 months).
