professionals who work just about anywhere. They uncover informa- tion for the people they work with. Think way beyond the public library or your school library, beyond to something different. Do you like research? Do you like to learn? Do you like a professional environ- ment filled with interesting people doing important work? Read on!

Colleagues, Friends, Resources

The Special Library Association (SLA) is the international association representing thou- sands of information professionals in over 70 countries. Special librarians are information resource experts who collect, analyze, evaluate, package, and disseminate information to facili- tate accurate decision-making in corporate, academic, and government settings. SLA offers a variety of programs and services designed to help its members serve their customers and suc- ceed in an increasingly challenging environment of information manage- ment and technology. SLA is committed to the professional growth and success of its membership.

Librarians: we're more about computers than we are books.

Nashville or Bust!

Every year special librarians from all over the country get together for a large annual conference. We network, learn more about our jobs, and drink much beer. Next year we'll be in Nashville. Come join the fun!

The Kentucky Chapter

What is the Kentucky Chapter of SLA?

Founded in 1975, The Kentucky chapter of SLA continues to foster ongoing professional development and professional networking and provide opportunities to maintain current awareness of technology and professional trends. It is one of the most active chapters of SLA in the country and is a very collegial group of people. Some of the events that we have sponsored are

- Visit the library at the Lexington Herald Leader.
- Tour of the Louisville School for the Blind
- Keeneland library and day at the races
