

SAN FRANCISCO BAY REGION CHAPTER PROGRAM EVENT

An Evening with Ken Haycock
Director, SJSU School of Library and Information Science

Tuesday, September 19, 2006
Delancey Street Foundation
600 Embarcadero, San Francisco

Ken Haycock was appointed director of the School of Library and Information Science at San José State University in 2005, and has already begun revamping the program. On September 19th, he will tell us about his plans for the SLIS program at SJSU, and give us his perspectives on what the future holds for libraries and librarians.

Dr. Haycock has been president of several national and international professional associations and is currently a member of the council of ALA and immediate past president of the Association for Library and Information Science Education. He has worked in most library environments, as library media coordinator for a major city school district, CEO of a regional library system, manager of special libraries and on the review team for university libraries. He has also been a senior official of a $400 million public organization. As a community member, Ken has been a public library trustee, elected school board president and municipal councilor.
